

Winners Named In 'Clean Waters' Contest

Twenty high school students were named winners of the "Clean Waters" essay contest, jointly sponsored by the Minnesota Federation of Women's Clubs and the Minnesota Department of Conservation, with the co-operation of the state Izack Walton league.

An essay written by Charles Gustafson of Maynard was selected as state award winner.

20 DISTRICTS

The 20 district winners, 10 boys and 10 girls, were chosen from an estimated 10,000 students who submitted essays. According to Carl W. Moen, director of the conservation department's bureau of information, 228 high schools were entered in this year's competition, a record for the four years that conservation essay contests have been conducted in the schools.

The 20 winners who will have all expenses paid during a five day trip to Itasca State park, are:

First district: Helen E. Jensen, Alden; Charles L. Henderson, Spring Valley.

Second district: Helen M. Wolf, Sleepy Eye; Clifford Seabern, Mankato.

Third district: Audrey Rossi, Pine Island; Roy C. Palan, Northfield.

Fourth district: Shirley A. Terrell, 923 St. Anthony, St. Paul; Ronald L. Bentley, 972 West Hoyt, St. Paul.

Fifth district: Dorothy Hauptman, 5112 Luverne avenue, Minneapolis; Robert Ray Ryan, 3604 Harriet So., Minneapolis.

Sixth district: Clare Buschen, Cold Spring; Robert A. Anderson, Wadena.

Seventh district: Kathryn Thiele, Madison; Charles Gustafson, Maynard.

Eighth district: Eleanor Winberg, Grand Rapids; Kenneth Limstrom, Tower.

Ninth district: Agnes Schmitke, Stephen; David Jerry Hardy, Mahanomen.

Tenth district: Natalie Joyce Whinery, Anoka; Bruce M. Bartel, Mound.